

Triple H Equitherapy Center
WHERE HORSE POWER HEALS

Equitherapy is a fancy word for the uncanny connection between a trained therapy horse and someone, young or mature or older, who is in need of therapy and healing. Triple H likes to say, somewhat tongue-in-cheek, “Our therapists live in a barn.” Because they really do. We also love to say, “Put your money where the miracles are.” Because that too, is true.

At risk youth, children and teens with mental or physical disabilities, behavioral issues, wounded warriors, those with PTSD, paraplegics and seniors all benefit from our horse therapists. That miracle of the horse/human connection is not merely wishful thinking. It is clinically proven and Triple H is fully nationally accredited by the Professional Association of Therapeutic Horsemanship International (PATH Intl.)

Triple H is truly “Where Horse Power Heals.” An autistic child who has never spoken before, has said “momma” for the first time while riding his therapy horse. Another non-verbal child’s first spoken word was his horse’s name. Miracles abound. Lives change. The tortured calm. Parents report their unruly child’s demeanor calms completely as they cross through our gate. We are Triple H Equitherapy Center.
